

CHANGES IN LIGHT AND LINES

words & music Madeleine Östlund

The summer world was filled with spheres in different green now comes another song a tinge of yellow shade will grow and start to glow

Those early autumn days will bring a blooming flame he loves to see the falling leaves the changing world
the evershifting truth He walks along the shore again and murmur from the sea the rise- the fall
- her face again

Strong red - clear blue
