

LEAVING BEHIND

words & music Madeleine Östlund

Sitting by the river where the children use to play letting thoughts come and go with the wind that blows from yesterdays till today crystal water's running through my fingertips like ideas melting down in a stream of sand old ideas, worn out words and through worlds sunken down a seedling of new thoughts is rising